MEND YOUR FENCES NOW!

Here we are, headed toward the Holiday Season, the last few weeks of 2010!

Amazing! Jesus' birthday, turkeys, trees, presents, carols, angels, and special Christmas services at church. Are you ready for it all?

The next few weeks will be a perfect time to begin working on mending fences with your family members as they come together for this season. I just conducted my Aunt Mildred's Memorial Service last Saturday. As I heard everyone sharing their feelings about Aunt Mildred, family and friends and former co-workers, I was warmed by the realization that everyone thought she was a truly unusual lady who had gone on to heaven before us.

The only regret anyone had about not having made things right with her was that several wished they had tried harder to visit her in the last few years. Everyone spoke of her a gracious, kind lady who never said anything bad about anyone, and was always ready to help anyone she could.

Several of the people there (from friends to family to former co-workers) also said that she treated everyone as an equal regardless of their age, gender, or position at work. That made quite an impact on me as I thought how grown up I felt (when I was much younger) when I would go some place with Aunt Mildred. She shared things with me, asked my opinions about things, and let me help make decisions.

I was saddened by speaking with some at the Memorial who said that they didn't know what was really going on in a former friend's life or a family member's life because they really didn't have a speaking relationship with them.

How easily the gift of forgiveness could mend those broken fences. The results of the gift would be easy and kind and comforting. Yet the giving of the gift seems so hard for so many.

In this past year I tried to mend some fences with Christians of many, many years, and no matter what I said or did, I could tell that the feelings they could not let go of went far too deeply and were too painful to have been caused only by the misunderstanding between us. Their emotional reactions went beyond any negative reactions toward me (which I am sure were very real and painful to them), perhaps reaching back even into their childhood.

I also made myself seriously consider what kind of self-examination I should conduct regarding their words of criticism/correction towards me. Having loosed so many things out of my soul already, I found this was much easier than it would have been in the past. Thank you, Jesus, for the Keys of the Kingdom!

I have continued to pray for them, purely and cleanly as I know how, asking God to heal and bless them, to shower them with grace and mercy, and help them to forgive. I have asked Him to show me what I can say or do, however I might need to humble myself, to aid in the mending of any still broken fences. While breakthroughs have not come yet in all areas, I know they will. I know God is working and my job is to continue praying for them, to stay sensitive, and to keep myself open to whatever opportunity He presents.

I especially love how The Message expresses the words of Romans 12:9-21:

- 9 Love from the center of who you are; don't fake it. Run for dear life from evil; hold on for dear life to good.
- 10 Be good friends who love deeply; practice playing second fiddle.

- 11 Don't burn out; keep yourselves fueled and aflame. Be alert servants of the Master, cheerfully expectant.
- 12 Don't quit in hard times; pray all the harder.
- 13 Help needy Christians; be inventive in hospitality.
- 14 Bless your enemies; no cursing under your breath.
- 15 Laugh with your happy friends when they're happy; share tears when they're down.
- 16 Get along with each other; don't be stuck-up. Make friends with nobodies; don't be the great somebody.
- 17 Don't hit back; discover beauty in everyone.
- 18 If you've got it in you, get along with everybody.
- 19 Don't insist on getting even; that's not for you to do. "I'll do the judging," says God. "I'll take care of it."
- 20 Our Scriptures tell us that if you see your enemy hungry, go buy that person lunch, or if he's thirsty, get him a drink. Your generosity will surprise him with goodness.
- 21 Don't let evil get the best of you; get the best of evil by doing good.

Paul wrote this about love in 1st Corinthians 13:3-7 (The Message):

- 3 *If I give everything I own to the poor and even go to the stake to be burned as a martyr, but I don't love, I've gotten nowhere. So, no matter what I say, what I believe, and what I do, I'm bankrupt without love.
- 4 Love never gives up. Love cares more for others than for self. Love doesn't want what it doesn't have. Love doesn't strut, doesn't have a swelled head,
- 5 doesn't force itself on others, isn't always "me first," doesn't fly off the handle, doesn't keep score of the sins of others,
- 6 doesn't revel when others grovel, takes pleasure in the flowering of truth,
- 7 puts up with anything, trusts God always, always looks for the best, never looks back, but keeps going to the end.

It is fairly clear that this passage precludes any right to rationalize or justify these all-too-common "throw-away" words of excuse for not forgiving in true love: "I do love her (him), I just don't like her (him)."

To love someone means that you care deeply about them, you have compassion for them, you want their best in all things, you are willing to forgive them for all things, you care more for them than you do for your own needs, you want God to bless and heal and pour out mercy and grace upon him or her. You want them to be happy and to know joy in Christ and in their relationship with you.

Like doesn't matter. I like tomatoes and I like chocolate. I am called to love others. The scriptural passage above is a wonderful description of the attributes, actions, words, and behaviors of love. These attributes, actions, words, and behaviors can be very difficult for the one who is holding a grudge or clinging to unforgiveness. Holding on to unforgiveness years after an offense, a wounding, or a slight has occurred comes out of unresolved issues that have made a person feel devalued and worthless to others. This person will likely react to seemingly similar slights in the same way the rest of his life. He(she) is not proud or selfish; he just has a great need to be valuable to someone. Unfortunately, many people are locked into their unforgiveness of all the slights they've felt they have received, even to the exclusion of realizing how important and valuable they are to God.

Also unfortunately, no one quite has the power to make us feeling devalued as much as family members who pick at our worth because they were made to feel devalued themselves.

We cannot undo what has been previously done in our families. But God can take all the stickers and sharp things out of what has previously been done. Forgiveness on our part places us into cooperation with God so He has an entrance into the situation. Our right prayers of pure concern and compassion for the other person keeps us in cooperation with Him as He begins to soften the armed guards of that person's soul.

How long can this take? Believe it or not, that is not an issue. The issue is that the work is in progress when these vital components of emotional fence mending are in place. When a Master is creating a masterpiece of fence mending, He should never be bothered or bugged about the time involved.

It is amazing how mean-spirited so many people are today. It is also amazing how many terrible things are happening today that clearly point to our being in the end times. And equally amazing, the world in general doesn't seem to have a clue what it all means because it has become so desensitized.

Some of the e-mails I receive from Christians are heart breakers because they accuse and condemn others instead of praying for them. I remember trying to stop a Christian at lunch after church as she tore apart a politician. I asked her if she had prayed for this politician and she reacted with a loud, "Absolutely not!" She looked as if I'd asked her if she wanted a spoonful of ground glass for her coffee.

The e-mails that came from Christians regarding the political scene during these last elections were terrible. I try to always pray for the people who send them, as well as the people they are attempting to tear apart. As Christians, we should obviously be setting examples that are different than the world. We should be sending out prayers for those running for office in our countries, states, and counties.

Set an unusual example for those around you to see. Be the one who spreads the oil of kindness and forgiveness to those around you. Be the one who gently turns the conversation when it strays into blaming others and condemning others. Be the one who prays for everyone involved in every tense situation. Be the one who forgives over and over. Be sensitive to emotions that are running high, but be the one determined to appreciate and get along with everybody else. Be a child of God who is about his or her Father's business, ministering reconciliation and healing and love.

Binding and Loosing for Beginners

I get so many phone calls and e-mails from people asking how should they get started with the binding and loosing prayers and what should they do about this or about that, usually all things they don't have to be concerned about yet. There is a lot of information to absorb and sort out in this message: soul ties, the power of agreement, soul power, forgiveness, family dynamics, stronghold thinking, wrong behaviors, soulish prayers, emotional reactions and distractions, territorial spirits, unmet needs, unhealed hurts, wrong mind/body agreements, and the list goes on.

One very nice man who had just begun to read Shattering Your Strongholds called me quite concerned about the seven inner influences of the soul. I had to really think about what they were, asking him where he had found them in the book. I knew that they weren't important to his earliest understanding of the binding and loosing prayers, but we talked about them anyway. Then I carefully led him back to the basic of the Keys of the Kingdom principles.

I assured him several times that as he prayed these prayers, God would begin to direct and guide his understanding of the others areas that his prayers would begin to influence.

I have had others (new to the message) who were sincerely frightened that if they prayed just one word wrong, they might bring harm to someone they were praying for. They were ordering every single laminated chart I had and holding tight to them everywhere they went. I almost quit making the prayer charts because of that.

But I and my staff assured all of the concerned lambs that these prayers would not, could not, hurt someone if they were prayed slightly differently than they had been written. The principles of binding and loosing were solid gold Scripture—the prayers were just supposed to be like training wheels in learning how to ride a bike. Both the unsundered soul and the enemy seem to work overtime to confuse people about the power of the principles used in the binding and loosing prayers.

So, it occurred to me one night, "Why not write a book called Binding and Loosing for Beginners?" And that is exactly what I have had a great deal of fun doing. This book has been such fun to write because I felt I only had to reference my doctrinal and Greek and Hebrew documentation found in the Trilogy, found in The Unsundered Soul and BEYOND

Shattered Strongholds, found in all the lexicons, commentaries, and the Greek and the Hebrew for the "scholars" one time. I told the "scholars" where they could find the heavy research and it was up to them after that.

The rest of this little Beginners' book was just for those new to the message or even for some who just want a refresher course in the basic of the message. I will be continuing what I call this beginning of my "little fat book" series on other subjects. I began simplifying binding and loosing to make it more accessible and readable. I remember Gene Peterson once saying that he felt his version of the New Testament (in The Message) was like street Greek so that anyone could understand it. I always loved that expression and longed to write a book where I could try to express myself in the same manner. Here are some excerpts out of Binding and Loosing for Beginners. You be the judge.

Excerpts

You will still have the ability to choices after you have bound your will to God's will and the mind of Christ; you will even be able to still make wrong choices (if you want to). You will also have more good and godly input than you have had before to show you why you probably really don't want to make those wrong choices.

It is a rare person who would not try to pray some kind of prayer wanting to be tied close to God when all means of escape had been closed off and the lions and tigers were steadily advancing. It can be a great comfort to know that you don't have to figure out and analyze all the lion and tiger details of any situation before you can pray very effectively with the Keys of the Kingdom.

Bind yourself body, soul, and spirit to God's will and purposes, and then loose, smash, crush, and destroy the works of the enemy (1 John 3:8). There's about a ninety-nine percent chance that he's the one who is pushing the lions and tigers at you to begin with.

Loosing the protective stronghold thinking around self-deception and denial in your soul will not always be fun and games. You may be confronted by things that you have never wanted to look at before such as bad attitudes, self-agendas, and bitterness about the consequences of wrong choices that you have never seemed to escape. How do you pray about that?

Good news here! You do not have to be sure that you figure out the best possible prayer for your neediest needs and most painful problems, because even the most basic binding and loosing prayers will position you very close to God. You can rely upon and relax into the One who knows all the right answers for you as long as you are praying to be in His will.

Here's the inside information on what's been getting in the way of everything you may have been trying to do to be an overcoming Christian.

Your unsundered soul has had quite an elaborate plan in place to keep you in your place!

Your unrenewed mind considers all new information that comes your way, draws conclusions, establishes your beliefs, and makes decisions according to its own desires. Your unrenewed mind is the Master Schemer in your unsundered soul.

Your unsundered will provides the boldness and drive to enforce your choices, pushes to obtain your desires, and follows through any way it can on the decisions your soul wants completed. Your unsundered will is the Enforcer of your unsundered soul.

Your unhealed emotions have been negatively impacting almost everything you think, say, or do. They can end up spooking and chasing your choices and decisions around like a herd of wild donkeys. Your unhealed emotions are the Drama Kings and Queens of your soul.

These three areas of the unsundered soul can be quite formidable when they become laser-focused on getting their own way. Whatever that might be, it is usually opposed to the will of God. While praying in the past, you may have wondered why it seemed so hard at times to do what you thought you should. Here's why: you had three experienced guerilla fighters (your unrenewed mind, unsundered will, and unhealed emotions) coming against one semi-experienced spiritual soldier—YOU. It's time to get ready to shake up that equation!

Like digging a splinter out of your finger, praying these prayers and the changes they can bring can hurt a little at the time, but then the healing starts. Your only option is to leave the splinter embedded in your flesh and let it fester until your finger falls off. Some people who hate making decisions actually choose to hope that no action will eventually bring about a resolution. The splinter might eventually rot away and disappear, true, but if your finger rotted and fell off, what was your ultimate cost?

Your soul only seems to be able to see the symptoms on the surface of your problems. Its typical short-sightedness keeps putting bandages over its wounds again and again without ever dealing with the infection in the wounds. Again, the problem seems to be covered up, but what is the final cost?

Praying surface prayers about truly scary issues rather than opening them up to God keeps you hanging on that proverbial rope with a knot tied in the end of it while dangling over a cliff above jagged rocks where the snakes all live. You may be trying everything you can think of to pray in faith while you keep thinking that if you can't hang on and the rocks don't get you, the snakes will.

If you've never prayed before, you may be willing to try anything to block out the rocks and the snakes—anything falling into the categories of drugs, alcohol, wrong relationships, thrill-seeking, and so forth. These are delaying tactics because the rocks and the snakes are still there!

Forgive this rather graphic analogy, but relying on surface truth is like asking a wife beater if he has quit beating his wife. He says he has. Surface question, surface answer. The whole truth is that he has now chained her in the basement, but he's not beating her at all—he's just starving her. Surface question, surface answer.

This book goes beyond surface truth, surface issues, and surface symptoms to help you uncover the deeper truth about why your life is not where you want it to be.

Your born-again spirit is thrilled and your body is just hoping for a little comfort and some TLC. So far, so good, right? Here's where it gets sticky.

You may have never known that there was a third player in your life, a strong-willed, stubborn, sometimes really mean third player known as your unsundered soul. Thanks to that one, your hopes and dreams have probably been beat up and run over far too many times while you didn't have had a clue what hit you.

The enemy has delighted in every blow your soul has struck against you as you have tried to work with God, but it is not really that difficult to keep the enemy out of the picture. You might want to cross stitch this on a sample for your wall or have someone do a mural of it:

FYI: The devil's ability to hurt you, confuse you, and scare you is directly tied to the level of your soul's rebellion and resistance to God's plan for your life.

Why focus on fussing and fighting with the devil for semi-freedom when you can use the Keys of the Kingdom to surrender your way to full freedom to be all God wants you to be? It really is time to give it all up—all the old baggage, junk, and toxic waste that has been messing with your whole life. The binding and loosing prayers give you the ways and means to do exactly that!

You cannot think that toxic waste out of your life; you cannot scream it out, cry it out, fight it out, drink or drug it out with alcohol or dope.

You cannot psychoanalyze the junk out, although a good counselor or analyst can help you co-exist with your toxic waste so that you don't jump off the roof of your church. But who wants to co-exist with junk and waste if there is a sure way to get rid of it? Even the best of psychoanalyzing, counseling, or analyzing often just teaches you how to strong-arm the toxic waste and override the bad memories. But they are all still inside your soul in some form, and the enemy will be ready to use them against you again if something or someone reactivates them in some manner.

FYI: No class, group, study, or human can permanently heal you of the toxic waste in your soul and the bad memories you have. Only God can, and all He wants is for you to give Him a chance to do it for you.

Testimonies

After months of binge eating, in desperation I picked up Shattering Your Strongholds one afternoon. By noon the next day, I had finished the book and prayed all the prayers. And I was astonished—my urge to overeat was gone. I have eaten moderately since then (11 weeks ago), and have lost 24 pounds to date. It has been effortless. I still don't know what happened, except the Lord did a work in me. I bind my will to His each day, and He is faithful.

Recently, I was given a copy of your book Shattering Your Strongholds. As a new believer, I prayed this way years ago, but I did not stick with it. Due to severe issues in many areas of my life over the last 2 years, I became quite depressed. The desire to die became my daily meditation. After I started reading your book, I changed my prayer format and within in a week of seriously praying with the binding and loosing Keys of the Kingdom, God has supernaturally restored my hope. I sense a greater power of His anointing when I pray.

Thank you for helping me get back on track with My Lord.
 Leonard

I could write a HUGE book about the fifteen years of spiritual warfare study and research I had done . . . and all of the ineffective and seemingly unanswered prayers! Then in March of this year, the Lord reminded me that I had Shattering Your Strongholds, and I began to read it again. I had bought it in 2005, read a few pages, and suddenly my life exploded with distractions! It seemed like it took me three or more months to read that book. I had to take it slowly, every nugget so full of information, but then my eyes opened up and I understood!!

These last six months I have seen MIRACLES!! Prayers being answered instantly, and lives are being changed incredibly . . . especially mine. Thank you, Liberty. Thank you for obeying God and being His mouthpiece. Freedom like this is addicting, and I'm looking forward to being an Eagle in Alaska for His Kingdom! Please come to Alaska one day soon! You will love what He's doing here!

Thanks so much for responding to my email. In my eagerness to start praying the Keys of the Kingdom binding and loosing prayers, I have already ordered four of your books and one of them was Shattering your Strongholds. I have also been going through your monthly newsletters and even those are blowing me away with the insight you share on soul issues. I feel for the first time in a long time that the Lord has opened the door for which I have been seeking, especially after so many deliverance sessions that never seemed to have had any lasting effect. I can totally understand why you receive the testimonials you do. God Bless you for your ministry!

I only just found your writings and ministry this past May. I truly have been touched and changed by it all! I really appreciate your humor, your down-to earth approach to things, your honesty, and your dedication. I have recommended your teachings to many others. I could go on and on, but I won't. All of GOD'S Blessings on you and yours, your ministry, and those who work with you as you continue this work. M. in Canada

Questions and Answers

QUESTION: What is the simplest way to pray against Satan's plots against me and my finances and my health?

ANSWER: The simplest? The most all-inclusive way to pray about these things is to keep binding your will to God's will to keep yourself centered in Him while loosing your soul's stronghold thinking and loosing the works of the enemy from yourself.

Liberty: I am tutoring a young man who has a lot of New Age thinking mixed up in what he thinks is Christianity. He likes to sit in a Hindu praying position which he says is a comfortable and relaxing way to sit. I don't think Christians should be sitting in that position. I am quite certain he needs to renounce some influences from his Hindu dad that have crept into his life. What do you think? JB in England

JB: If he is open to talking with you about God, I would drop the whole issue of how he is sitting. It is what is in his heart that matters, not how he sits. Telling him to renounce some of the Hindu influences of his father too early in the relationship you seem to be opening with him may shut the door on any further meaningful discussions. That is not vital to establishing his interest and his trust in you at first.

We don't often get very far with people who feel we are questioning their rights to certain beliefs or that we are trying to threaten what they think and feel. These are the ones we sort of have to spiritually sneak up on without them knowing it.

You can get much stronger and more aggressive in your prayers for such people when they are not in your presence. That is where you need to be doing your most intense battling over this situation for right now.

Listen for opportunities to sound like you are "relating" to some of the things he says. For instance, you might have an opportunity to speak to him about binding and loosing when he talked about emptying his mind. Loosing is a form of emptying out or getting rid of negative, toxic thinking through prayer to God. Tell him that you do this with Keys that Jesus Christ left for you to use. Be careful not to bury him with additional information, but just answer any questions he might have. If he resists what you say, just change the subject and then know that this is an area to go after in prayer. Hope this helps.

Liberty: Thank you for your prayers. I have used your prayers for a few years and I have seen so many of them answered. How should I best pray for my son who is bound by a spirit of fear since my daughter died in a car accident? He is very fearful of driving anywhere because of the trauma from her death. I have been a manager for the past 20 years at a Christian Mental Health Facility and have recommended your books and prayers to many. The results are encouraging. With love, C

C: As you pray for your son, keep binding his mind to the mind of Christ and his emotions to the healing balance and comfort of the Holy Spirit. You spoke of him being in bondage to a spirit of fear. This is not something I teach, but I would like to address focusing on loosing fearful thought patterns from him. Ask God to give great grace and mercy to the healing of your son's mind and his painful memories of this loss of his sister. He does not seem to have been able to yet release that grief to God. He may have had a soul tie of some kind with her. Do you think he would be willing to pray and loose the effects and influences of any soul ties he might have had with her? I prayed for him and for you today.

PRAYING FOR THE CHILDREN

I've felt a deep, urgent need to pray for the children of the world for the past few weeks. Every Monday through Friday morning, I pray at the same time as the sixty-six LSM International Intercessors do around the world for children who are in situations of all forms of abuse, starving, sick, in poverty, and even in child slavery. Second Chronicles 7:14 tells us:

If My people who are called by My name will humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin and heal their land (NKJV).

I cannot help but wonder if some of our wicked ways are that we do not pray enough for those who need help so badly. This speaks of the power of our prayers for our nations and those in them if we will humble ourselves, stop following our own wills and our own agendas, and pray with all the focus and determination that we can for what is right.

What might be considered one of our wicked ways as spoken of here? Could it not be that we have not cried out for others, especially the children of the world everywhere, every day!

Please join with me and others in praying for the children of the world who desperately need us to agree that God's will shall be done in their lives and quickly. Here is a sample prayer to pray:

Lord, I come to your with pain in my heart asking that you forgive me for not daily remembering and praying for those who cannot help themselves. I bind every child in the world to your will. I bind their minds to your mind, Jesus, and I bind their wounded and ragged emotions to the healing balance and comfort of the Holy Spirit. Please speak words of encouragement and hope to them. Please send help to rescue them quickly.

I loose the enemy's influence from all adults who are using and abusing so many children in the world today. Please heal them from whatever has driven them to such behaviors.

I loose, smash, crush, and destroy the enemy's works that are coming against these children. You have said if we would humble ourselves, pray, seek your face, and turn from our wicked ways, then you would heal our land. Please show us what we need to do to work with you to see our lands and the children in them become safe and healed and filled with hope. Thank you, Father God. Amen

Please also pray about what you can and should do about mending fences with family members at this time of the year. God will give you the grace and mercy and strength to be the one who is the open doorway for hurt people to walk through.

He's not asking you to be a doormat, He's asking you to be a doorway to Him!

Blessings to all of you and may you have a wonderful Christmas, a wonderful time of celebrating the birth of Christ, and a New Year filled with hope and blessing. Liberty

Who and What is LIBERTY SAVARD MINISTRIES?

Reverend Liberty S. Savard, President of Liberty Savard Ministries, Inc. (a non-profit corporation), was born again in 1972. She is an ordained minister with credentials from the Evangelical Church Alliance (P.O. Box 9, Bradley, Illinois 60915). Rev. Savard has served as a singles director, associate pastor, speaker, and Bible teacher. She is the author of Shattering Your Strongholds (1993 Bridge-Logos Pub.), Breaking the Power (1997 Bridge-Logos Pub.), Producing the Promise (1999 Bridge-Logos Pub.), and several mini-books and workbooks. Her books also include The Unsundered Soul (2002 Bridge-Logos Pub.), Apples of Gold in Baskets of Silver (2003 Bridge-Logos Pub.), BEYOND Shattered Strongholds (Bridge-Logos Pub.), GPS for the Soul (2010 Bridge-Logos Pub.), The Binding and Loosing Prayer Manual (Liberty Savard Publishing 2009), and Binding and Loosing for Beginners (Liberty Savard Publishing 2010).

This ministry believes the Scriptures are inspired of God, infallible, and fully authoritative for Christian faith and conduct. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was born of a virgin, lived a sinless life on Earth, died on the cross in a substitutionary work of redemption for mankind, rose again and now sits at the right hand of the Father. Through Christ's shed blood and renewal of the Holy Ghost, justified by grace through faith, man becomes an heir of God with absolute hope of eternal life.

Liberty teaches Christians how to cause their unsundered souls (old natures) to surrender to the will and purposes of God. She also teaches Christians how to loose emotional baggage and toxic waste from their souls to create room within themselves to receive all God has promised to them for today. This allows believers to fulfill their destinies while walking in knowledge and power to bring glory and honor to God the Father! The message of binding and loosing and the Unsundered Soul teaches God's people how to pray with the Keys of the Kingdom (Matthew 16:19) to impact things on earth so they come into alignment with God's already established will in heaven. Liberty also teaches Christians how to pray purely without "want lists" and soulish instruction manuals for God (so He will know how best to answer their prayers!). Effective prayers with pure motives declare that God's will shall be done on Earth as He has so set it in heaven.
